Food Safety Policy and Allergens

All Gold'n Plump® facilities are USDA-inspected and follow specific Hazard Analysis and Critical Control Point (HACCP) plans regarding potential food safety hazards, including specific allergens. Gold'n Plump's food safety programs are audited by an outside, third-party auditor. Gold'n Plump includes the 8 major allergens in its food safety policies (egg, dairy, wheat, soy, peanut, tree nut, fish and shellfish), and it follows the recommendations of the Food Allergy Research & Resource Program (FARRP, www.farrp.org) to ensure proper handling of those ingredients.

The eight major allergens are labeled on Gold'n Plump packages, based on information we receive from our suppliers; specific sanitation and documentation procedures are followed to avoid cross-contamination with other products; and training is provided for all key personnel on proper handling of the eight major allergens.

If you have additional questions or require consumer care, please contact one of our representatives at 800-328-2838, between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Central Time.
